- 1) You may name one or more person(s), an entity, your estate, or a trust as beneficiary or contingent beneficiary.
- 2) You cannot name yourself as primary or contingent beneficiary.
- 3) You cannot name the same person as both primary and contingent beneficiary.
- 4) If you name more than one person as primary or contingent beneficiary you should indicate the percentage each beneficiary is to receive. If you do not indicate percentages, beneficiaries entitled to receive benefits will be paid in equal percentages. If you have named multiple primary beneficiaries and one predeceases you, the share which you have designated for such predeceased beneficiary, will be divided equally among living primary beneficiaries. If all primary beneficiaries predecease you, then payment will be made to any living contingent beneficiaries as designated on your approved Beneficiary Designation Form. If payment is to be made to multiple contingent beneficiaries and one predeceases you, the share, which you have designated for such predeceased beneficiary, will be divided equally among living contingent beneficiaries. Payments are made to contingent beneficiaries only if ALL primary beneficiaries predecease you. If all named primary and contingent beneficiaries predecease you, the payment will be made in accordance with the applicable Plan Document then in force.
- 5) You may name your estate as either primary or contingent beneficiary. Should you wish to have these benefits distributed through your estate, you should name "my estate" as beneficiary. If you name your estate as primary beneficiary, you cannot name a contingent beneficiary.
- 6) You may name a trust as primary or contingent beneficiary.
 - a) If the trust is an existing trust, you must provide the name of the trust, the date of the trust, and the name, telephone number, and address of the trustee and the federal identification number of the trust.
 - b) If the trust is a testamentary trust (created by will), you should make the designation as follows: "to my trust, if any, under my will, or if not, to my estate."
- 7) You must sign, date, and return the form to the Authority and your signature must be notarized, OR Authority Agent must verify, OR you must provide a copy of your Driver's License or signed Social Security Card for signature verification before the Authority can accept your Beneficiary Designation.
- 8) You may change your Beneficiary Designation at any time by completing a new form.
- 9) If you have a 457 and 401(k) account (including any deemed IRA accounts) and do not specify the account for which this form serves, it will apply to all accounts.
